Caring for your Crown/Bridge/Veneer

- The long-term success of your restoration depends on several things, such as meticulous oral hygiene. Brushing and cleaning between teeth and around the restoration helps remove food debris and plaque, a bacteria-laden film that collects on teeth, gums, and on the restoration.
- Floss gently around the restoration and your natural teeth once a day (or use another interdental cleaner) to help remove plaque and debris from the areas that a toothbrush can't reach. Clean around the front, sides, and behind each tooth. If you have trouble holding floss, a special floss threader can help you reach and clean around the restoration.
- Avoid chewing on ice and other hard objects.
- Regular annual check-ups are a must.
- If you experience continued sensitivity/pain you may need to see an Endodontist (Root Canal Specialist).
